FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

It's The Finals Countdown!

University Heights, Ohio- October 24, 2016- Tests and papers and quizzes, oh my! All students at John Carroll University need a study break every once in a while. Grasselli Library is excited to announce its pre-finals week fun filled event, The Finals Countdown.

Join us in Graselli Library in the Learning Commons on November 9 from 8-10 P.M. for the The Finals Countdown! Overseen by librarian Amy Wainwright, this event will feature fun and engaging activities. It is our goal to have this event serve as a stress relief study break to JCU students in the midst of preparing and studying for finals. Warm up to studying with our delicious hot chocolate bar while you give your mind a break as your craft fun and festive holiday boxes. As an added bonus, get some brain food as we will be serving free pizza!

The Finals Countdown is first come, first serve! Don't miss out on your chance for an evening of fun and stress relief, while getting in the Winter spirit. All amenities are provided.

About Grasselli Library:

Grasselli Library is John Carroll University's center for academic success. Boasting a large collection of research study tools and online databases, Graselli enables students to get their work done in an efficient and scholarly manner. The library provides students with services such as tutoring, computer labs, study rooms and access to printers and scanners.
